

I come from...

I come from 3 houses, technically 4

I come from it's too rude to ask for some more.

I come from my mum and my dad, but not together.

I come from don't use that tone with me ever.

I come from 3 hour car journey's and feeling sick,

I come from if it doesn't work, give it a kick.

I come from 66 steps away from my best friend.

I come from knowing everyone that lives round the bend.

I come from never having seen a Harry Potter Movie;

Or read the books to tell you truly.

I come from please and thank you and apologies,

I come from falling over and grazing my knees,

and my elbows and my face,

I come from looking like a right state.

I come from constantly packing an over night bag,

I come from come on, it can't be that bad.

I come from weekend walks ^{to} the pub, ~~or~~

I come from do you need a hug?

I come from music, ~~certain~~

~~I come from~~ ^{and} concerts and gigs and festivals,

but best of all, I come from ~~some~~ noone but myself.

I come from bubble baths with my sister. Harry Potter being read to us by my Dad, chapter 1 over and over again. Wiping muddy boots on the ~~doormat~~ doormat and stinging hands.

straight I come from the worst haircut in the world. Chin length and stuck to my moon face. Being ~~the~~ laughed at for laughing and unfair games.

I come from growing up too slow.

I come from text books and essays. An old history teacher who taught me ~~to~~ how to learn and listen. Shaves in the corridor and bright jumper.

I come from never being fancied, never being her. Brought from clarks and a tummy I couldn't shake off.

I come from covering up.

I come from a snapchat filter and makeup counter. ~~Having~~ Being loved and also loving. Finding jeans that make my bum look good.

I come from holding hands and eating chips in an empty park on a December night. Undone laces and beer on my converse. Headphones singing words I ~~finally understood~~ hear.

I come from anger at ignorance and politicians. Anger at the world and love for it.

I come from understanding everything but me.